GROUNDS FOR MAUSOLEUM

GIVEN BY CITY COUNCIL IN MOUNTAIN VIEW CEMETERY.

VAULT HOLDER TO CONTROL

Portland Mausoleum Company Given Ground for Mausoleum at Meeting of the City Council Held Tuesday Evening.

The city council at its regular meeting held Tuesday evening authorized the mayor and city recorder to execute a contract with the Portland Mausoleum Company agreeing to deed the company a space of ground 45 by 125 feet in Mountain View Cemetery for a site for the proposed mausoleum to be erected by the company. The contract as authorized relieves the city of any and all responsibility for the up-keep of the mausoleum, leaving the matter entirely in the hands of the purchasers of crypts in the edifice. It also deprives the city of the use of the chapel in the structure. That, according to the representatives of the company, will be in the hands of the tomb owners to use or lease for the use of others as they may see fit. The size of the proposed structure and the number of crypts was also left to the company and the tomb owners.

The company agrees to complete the mausoleum within two years from the date of the contract or the contract becomes void.

ASHLAND HIGH SCHOOL

Personal Notes That Tell of Activities in the Realm of the Three R's.

A game of football with Albany high school is in prospect for Thanksgiving day. The game ought to prove a big drawing card as Albany has a good claim to the championship of the Willamette valley. Her title is disputed by Eugene, but the two schools do not meet. Each one has decisively beaten the teams with which it played. Ashland has won the championship of southern Oregon by defeating Medford, so that this game will give a line on the comparative strength of the Willamette valley schools and southern Oregon. While the contract has not been signed, it probably will be played.

By some misunderstanding Professor Kramer did not address the Agricultural Club last Saturday, but will be here next Saturday evening. He will speak on soil fertility. As Professor Kramer, who is in charge of the experiment station near Talent, is an authority on his subject, he should be heard by every one who can attend. At the last meeting of the club, while disappointed in not having Professor Kramer, the members listened to a few remarks by Professor Coen and then indulged in story-telling, a pastime which proved very enjoyable. Everybody is urged to come on Saturday night.

The regular anniversary program of the high school will be held next Tuesday evening. The purpose of the entertainment is to raise books and magazines for the school library. The students are working hard and the program promises to be exceptionally good. Among the attractions is a play, "Our Boys," with a cast of ten. The first dress rehearsal will be held Thursday night. The orchestra will play several selections and the girls' quartet will also appear. The full program will appear later. This affair has always proved popular and it is hoped that the parents and others interested in the students will turn out and show their appreciation.

STOLEN GEMS ARE RECOVERED

ard, with four victims of the robbers, arrived in Medford Wednesday evening and positively identified Brownlee, and this weakened the nerve of the man, who before stoutly maintained his innocence. The lavish expenditure of money in this city led the local authorities to suspicion Brownlee.

Though the confessor denies any complicity in the hold-up of the Southern Pacific train at Delta two weeks ago, the authorities are of the opinion that he was connected with the crime, through Brownlee asserts that he can prove he was in Yreka the night of the hold-up when one of the robbers was shot and killed by a brakeman. Sheriff Howard last night wired to Yreka for the holding of a man believed to have been Brownlee's partner in the saloon hold-up. "Slim" Warren, the saloonist, is particularly anxious for the return of his diamonds.

Brownlee told the authorities that he and his pal timed the hold-up, because it was payday for the employees of the Fruit Supply Company at Hilt, and because of the knowledge that the saloon contained a rich harvest upon these occasions. He stood at the back door, with his pal at the front, and entering the place forced all hands to submit to a search. "Slim" Warren, the proprietor, was robbed of a diamond ring and stud valued at $1,500. Sheriff Howard and Officer Mego spent last night in Ashland searching for the diamonds which Brownlee said were hidden in that city.

Sheriff Howard of Siskiyou county, accompanied by George O'Grady, J. Adams, A. L. Toobs and E. D. Ozler of Hilt, viewed and interviewed Brownlee in the city jail last night, and when they had finished they pronounced him the hold-up. One of the members identified him as the man, and another as the citizen he saw near the place with his mask off. In the face of these allegations the prisoners had nothing to say. Brownlee's companion, also held, had no connection with the crime, it is believed.

The hold-up was particularly daring. The Warren saloon was crowded with laborers who had just received their pay from the Fruitgrowers' Supply Company, and were making merry on payday. In strides two masked men with guns, compelling all present to raise their hands and be "frisked" for pocketbooks, watches and jewelry. "Slim" Warren, the proprietor of the saloon, happened along at the time and was relieved of his diamond ring, showing the artistic sense of the robbers.

When the robbers made their escape the robbed men began to shoot at the robbers, who fled down the railroad track, and the thugs replied in kind.

Brownlee came to Medford Monday and aroused the suspicions of the police when he began to spend money with a free and reckless hand. When arrested he had a couple of hundred dollars on his person. Last night two suspects were arrested at Hornbrook in connection with the same crime.

SOME LATER FIGURES.

What Final Count Was on Amendments.

Complete returns from the state with the exception of Malheur and Harney counties show that the Medford rate bill swept the state by a vote of 56,899 to 44,719. The measure carried every county in the state with the exception of Wheeler, where it lost by five votes only. Wheeler county is one of the counties in the state without a railroad.

The home rule road bill lost by a vote of 61,725 yeas to 37,672 nays, the majority against being 24,053. The bill lost in every county but Coos, Curry, Jackson and Klamath. In Curry it only carried by four votes.

The majority for woman suffrage is larger than earlier figures indicated, the returns for all counties except Malheur showing it is 4,837 ahead. The amendment authorizing an income tax, which has been in doubt, is carried to victory, 1,915 votes to the good, with two counties to be heard from that cannot change the result.

A simple attachment for a piano, to prevent pages of a music book being blown about by a breeze, has been patented by an Ohioan.
